We must keep the pace of the strongest—
That the goddess smiles on our
Let the weak of body and soul
So we lag no step in the terrible

Are any too weak to maintain the
Your heel on the roadway paved with
A thousand blooms must fade in beauty
So a thousand men must fall that one

We must keep the pace of the strongest—
Though the body faint 'neath the rackings
Though the days drag on into weary years
Keep pace! and ho for the heights beyond

We must keep the pace of the strongest—
Beat down, pass over, break with the world who
Do we sell our souls? He wins the world who
"Who wins must march!" Keep pace or else fall

NEW ARTESIAN WELL FIELD AT PECOS

Water Flow Increases Constantly—Companies Plan Prospecting.

Pecos, Texas, July 15.—A new artesian well field has been discovered on the ranch of Prof. W. C. Welborn, 20 miles south of Pecos. The flow of water has been constantly increasing in volume.

This find proves over 200 square miles in this region to be underlaid with water which rises in the wells to such a height as to make pumping practicable, or will flow of its own accord.

Prof. Welborn irrigates the greater part of his property with the waters of Toyah creek, but in a desire to test his theory that the territory was underlaid with water which would flow, the well was sunk. The well will irrigate, perhaps, 420 acres.

The depth of the artesian wells in the lower Pecos valley being less than 250 feet, bring all within the limit of cost for general use, and several strong companies are now drilling and arranging to drill numbers of wells for pumping purposes. It is thought that within two years the irrigated lands of Reeves county will be increased 25,000 acres by artesian water supply.

Large numbers of small tracts are being sold to settlers who will put down their own wells, and operate small, independent pumping stations.

RAINS IMPROVE ALL RANGES AT MAGDALENA
Wool Holders Dispose of Summer Clips: New Location for Postoffice; Scarlet Fever Under Control.

Magdalena, N. M., July 15.—Good rains here have put the ranges in fine shape. The ranges were beginning to need rain and cattle and sheep were reported in rather poor condition.

Wool holders are beginning to sell their clip. There are a number of wool buyers in town and a large amount of wool is changing hands. The price ranges from about 12 to 13 1/2 cents.

The postoffice has been moved from the Becker-Mactavish store to one of the new office buildings of the same company just across the street from where it had been located for several years.

John Fullerton, of Socorro, who has been here attending to state business, is holding his wool for 16 cents.

H. W. Russell has returned from Socorro.

The scarlet fever epidemic is practically under the control of the health officer and the local physicians.

J. W. Phillips has returned from Palomas springs.

VIOLATION TO COME WEST AND RIDE.
Tucson, Ariz., July 15.—Declaring that she has cut her "eye teeth on a safety razor," Violet Earle, a Chicago actress and former Texan, spurns the riding schools of Chicago and expresses her desire to come west and break bronchos.

In her letter to the postmaster, Violet, writing from 53 North Clark street, Chicago, says she is "not looking for any Johnnies or Willies to hold hands with," as there are plenty of them in Chicago, she says, but she is looking for work and a good pony.
